Dear Friends and Supporters of MCW,

MCW accomplished many successes over the last 18 years. From one idea an organization formed, MCW built community centers, held annual youth leadership retreats and worked to build the infrastructure of oral health care in Tanzania. As a small non-profit, it is impossible to empirically measure our full impact but we know it is great. Countless beneficiaries have been touched by MCW; dental therapists visited primary schools to promote oral hygiene to thousands of children; hundreds of students received vocational accreditation, over a dozen scholarships were granted and an entire dental school reconstructed with state-of-the-art technology. The impact is great and so now is the opportunity to grow.

The outcome of the 2015 strategic planning process was to reorganize our staffing structure, diversify our funding and revise our programmatic strategy to remain competitive, grow in a changing non-profit market, and further measure impact. Former Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere stated at the Arusha Declaration that “everybody wants development, but not everybody understands and accepts the basic requirements for development. The biggest requirement is hard work. The second [requirement] of development is the use of intelligence.” And so now it is time to work...We will work to improve efficiency, refine our strategy and measure our impact. This data, intelligence, will take MCW into its next phase of growth.

We invite you to enjoy MCW’s 13th edition of The Corner, which highlights our programs, projects and achievements from 2016-2017.

We are grateful for the continued support you provide to MCW, current and future leaders, and the communities we serve as we enter our 19th year.

Sincerely,

Eddie Bergman

Executive Director
MCW (Miracle Corners of the World) is a non-profit organization with a vision for communities throughout the world to achieve greater levels of education, improved health, and increased economic security. Our mission is to address communities’ pressing needs by empowering current leaders and readying leaders of tomorrow.

Based in New York and founded in 1999, with partner organizations in Africa (Rwanda, Tanzania, and Zambia), MCW offers the following: Community Development, Oral Health Care, and Young Leaders programs. MCW also supports Partner Initiatives, including Human Rights and Pediatric AIDS Treatment for Africa (PATA). Our core values include integrity, compassion, accountability, responsibility, and excellence.
The Young Leaders Program prepares youth to become leaders of positive change in their communities. Young leaders join in participating in programs to develop a deeper understanding of social issues and change, acquire the skills, networks and confidence needed to affect change and to return to their communities as mobilized leaders in a globalized world.
Young Leaders Program

MCW kicked off the year-long Annual Young Leaders Program with its 19th retreat in July. The 39 young leaders represented 18 different countries and territories including Afghanistan, Austria, Bangladesh, Colombia, Egypt, Hungary, Israel, Kazakhstan, Kenya, Kosovo, Kyrgyzstan, Nepal, Pakistan, Palestine, South Africa, Sudan, the United States of America, and Zimbabwe. Each young leader is paired with mentors who are alumni of the program. In addition to providing a platform for intercultural dialogue and understanding, the young leaders are guided by mentors as they implement their plans for change during the year. Youth development, human rights, education, gender equality, entrepreneurship, health care, and intercultural dialogue were some of the areas participants wanted to address in their local communities.

Building on the momentum of the Young Leaders Program curriculum, MCW expanded its reach to young leaders who were interested in acquiring skills and tools to implement their ideas for change in Europe and the Middle East with a three-day intensive conference in Peje, Kosovo. Through focused leadership training and global citizenship awareness, participants gained a better understanding of their role as leaders in a modern, global world. At the conclusion of the three-day program, participants created their own vision plans (project plans), to enact change in their community. After preparing the plans, participants gave short elevator pitches to their colleagues and MCW team members.

Young Leaders Conference

In January, MCW piloted a Young Leaders Workshop with staff from Harlem RBI, a New York based non-profit, at Google’s Chelsea Market office with a one-day vision planning workshop. Attendees received an introduction to vision planning and the skills to help implement ideas in their communities. Facilitated by YLP alumna Sheree Haggan, an employee of Google, in-kind support was provided by the Black Googlers Network and Hispanic Googlers Network.

92% increase in cultural awareness and competency
81% increase in courage to make significant changes in their community
69% increase in understanding of their passion, purpose and goals
92% increase in understanding of vision and mission statements
“This conference will be the main reason I go back to my hometown and tell them what we learned and help them solve those problems.”
92% increase in confidence in articulating the idea of their project

“It was a new experience that I very much enjoyed. It also gave a new perspective to all my ideas.”
“This helped narrow down my vision and mission and get a better understanding on how to implement my idea.”
Ahmed Ali, Sudan, YLP '16

Ahmed lives in Khartoum, Sudan, and is an alumnus from the 2016 Young Leaders Program. As a Lecturer of Pharmacy at the University of Khartoum, Ahmed is leading students to help local communities through the Professional Development Center (PDC). Through his efforts, students of the University of Khartoum are changing healthcare in their communities.

What is your project?

“For a long time, students of Pharmacy Faculty, University of Khartoum - the most prestigious university in Sudan - knew their social responsibilities and have been avid to help their country through outreach convoys. The PDC recently has been supporting Faculty of Pharmacy Students’ Association (FPSA) and playing a major role in medical convoy’s activities through teaching effective strategic planning and implementation skills, holding communication skills workshops, delivering health education sessions, selecting competitive teams’ candidates and sharing its extended network for both funds rising and sharing needed experience.”

What is your hope/vision for this situation?

“Having a well-educated youth generation in different aspects is what I work to achieve. As I invest in a single young individual, as I directly invest in his or her close friends, work place, family, neighborhood, spouse, children and eventually, our country.”
Alumni Ventures Fund (AVF)

The AVF (Alumni Ventures Fund) is a unique opportunity for young leaders who have graduated from the YLP to receive funding and professional mentorship to help them turn their ideas of implementing social change into concrete plans. In February, MCW awarded three YLP alumni with AVF grants. Recipients, Cody Jacobs from Long Island, Fredrick Meena from Tanzania, and Timurlan Alagushov from Kyrgyzstan will each receive grants of $2,200, $2,800, and $5,000, respectively. Cody’s grant will go towards working on “A Cooperative Future”, a project which aims to bridge the gap between the United States and Cuba through knowledge of cooperatives. Fredrick’s grant will go towards continuing his work on “Oral Hygiene Practices” by offering education and knowledge on oral health and introducing basic care to prevent oral disease to underserved members of his community. Timurlan’s grant will go towards creating a new mobile platform for his organization, “Let’s Dance”, which provides dance education through people, technologies, and events to create a sustainable environment where young people can develop as artists and valuable professionals.

“Through my years of experiences with MCW, I learned more and more about injustice and oppression throughout the world but most importantly about our ability to make the world a better place. I became committed to using photography as a tool for change and with the AVF I finally have an opportunity to do just that, to document change as it is happening, and share it with the world.” -Cody

“Receiving such support as the AVF for the current period of my project development is like finding oasis in a desert. Let’s Dance will change the dance industry all around the world and will help to bring the most value of the art of dance to people, beginning from my local community to global.” -Timurlan

“The AVF means a lot to me because it will help reach the rural community and implement the project of providing the oral health hygiene education easily and successfully.” -Fredrick

“As founders of MCW’s Alumni Ventures Fund, my husband Steven and I are so proud to be part of the sustained effort that has gone into identifying talented YLP alumni and helping them pursue their visions. Over the years, the pool of applicants has become more impressive.”

-Sharon Kess co-founder of MCW’s Alumni Ventures Fund
The MCW Community Development Program develops and supports local partner organizations in Rwanda, Tanzania, and Zambia, where they operate centers located in underserved areas. Local Boards and managers tailor programs with support from MCW according to the needs of the communities.

MCW empowers local organizations to become community leaders by offering: sustaining grants, operational support, scholarships, continuing professional development and access to an international network.
In the last few years, MC – Rwanda, Tanzania and Zambia (MCx) have become fully accredited vocational training centers. They offer a variety of courses, complementary skills-training and social programs across four centers to meet the needs of local communities. From Literacy to Information Computer Technology, Youth Groups to Sanitation Education Outreach, MCx centers are addressing critical needs in Arusha, Chanyanya, Kayenzi and Songea. Fully established as leading community centers in these communities, MC – Rwanda, Tanzania and Zambia, are looking to the future.

Following MCW’s strategic plan, local Boards and management teams are taking the lead in re-visiting programmatic strategies at the country-level. Throughout 2016, MCx conducted needs assessments and analyzed current programming to inform country-level strategic plans, expected to be completed in 2017.

Youth Group at the MCT Arusha Community Center
In 2016, MCR’s most popular vocational training courses, Computer Technology and Tailoring continued to prepare students for self-employment, furthering careers and education. The most recent cohort of tailoring graduates are in the process of establishing a cooperative, a popular business model in Rwanda, which is owned and run jointly by its members, who share the profits or benefits.

Additional non-accredited trainings offered at the center target women seeking self-employment and include skills such as: jewelry-making, embroidery, knitting and dying.

Operating the only government accredited center in the Southern Highlands of Tanzania, MCT provided opportunities for 85 youth in Songea to receive IT and English education. Combined with the Arusha courses, a total of 264 students were reached between June 2016 and April 2017.

Community members, primarily women, took advantage of the VICOBA (Village Community Banks) hosted in the MCT centers. These self-run banks allow members to buy shares, and obtain microcredit to start small enterprises. More than 140 community members have used loans for entrepreneurial ventures ranging from establishing chicken farms to expanding carpentry and tailoring businesses.

MCZ focused heavily on community outreach in 2016. The Youth Group held a fashion show to raise funds for back-to-school expenses for local residents and simultaneously educated youth on drug and alcohol abuse, the dangers of HIV/AIDS and its impact on education.

The Youth Group also received training and formed Sanitation Action Groups to educate and introduce the community to the importance of pit latrines and emphasize hand-washing, boiling of drinking water and general hygiene practices. As a direct outcome of their efforts, 120 toilets were constructed in the homes of Chanyanya residents.

Within the center, MCZ graduated 35 students in Design, Cutting and Tailoring. Learn2Learn, the center’s literacy program for both children and adult learners, sees hundreds of students throughout the year. The program aims to improve the standard of living for adult learners and prepare youth for entry into the education system.
The fund was established in 2011 to honor the memory of the late Dr. George Sideris, a Founding Mentor of MCW and a biologist teaching at New York University and Long Island University, in New York. It commemorates his commitment to MCW and the communities it serves, his passion for teaching and educational travel, and his conviction that the gift of education should be available to all. The fund provides leaders involved with MCW for at least two years with scholarships and stipends to attend certificate or full degree programs.

Community Leader’s Seminar

Bringing together the leadership of MCW’s international network, the seminar reinforced the shared purpose across MCW stakeholders and established a common understanding of shared policies and parameters.

Topics included innovation and cost-effective programming, financial accountability and reporting, reporting against objectives, establishing monitoring and evaluation, and resource mobilization.

Seminar participants included Board Members and Country Directors of MCW partner organizations in Africa, including Rwanda, Tanzania, and Zambia. Also in attendance were MCW Global team members including Chief Operating Officer Khalid Elachi, MCW staff member Nitya Ramanathan, and MCW Board Member Humera Qazi.

In addition to attending the seminar, MCW team members also visited the MC-Zambia center in Chanyanya to see first-hand the programs currently offered, including classes in literacy education, computer technology, and tailoring, providing the team with an opportunity to meet the beneficiaries of the center’s programs.

“The outcome is focused on finding the most appropriate and most needed services for the communities we serve, to be delivered under the most effective and efficient means possible.” - Humera Quazi, MCW Board Member
MCW’s Oral Health Care Program aspires to achieve improved oral health status for all Tanzanians. MCW strives to build capacity of health professionals to alleviate the oral health workforce shortage. This is done through working with Dentists, Dental Therapists and Nurses in a cross-disciplinary approach. In collaboration with multi-level leadership in government and dental institutions in Tanzania, MCW identifies key projects that will have a sustainable impact in the country, and which are in line with the Strategic Oral Health plan of the Tanzanian Ministry of Health, Community Development, Gender, Elderly and Children.
5,844 children received oral health education, fluoride varnish, tooth paste and tooth brushes.

$84,520 in-kind donations to support Oral Health Care programs between June 2016 and June 2017

Dental Therapy Training

In alignment with the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare’s Strategic Oral Health Plan for 2012-2017, the Dental Outreach Training Program is working with leadership in the dental therapy training schools to develop and strengthen a community dental outreach program which is aligned with their community dentistry curriculum and objectives for training dental therapy students.

2016 marked the expansion of the Outreach Training Program to Tanga, the second dental therapy training school in Tanzania. All third-year students in Mbeya and Tanga participated in the outreach trainings.

The 2-week intensive practical training covered core outreach topics:

- Infection prevention and control in resource-constrained settings
- Atraumatic Restorative Treatment
- Behavior management in pediatric care
- Ethics and professionalism in dentistry
- How to prepare and conduct dental outreach
- Community Leadership skills

More than 80% of the dental therapists said the program “very much” or “definitely” contributed directly to his/her:

- Understanding of community dentistry and pediatric care
- Confidence in diagnosing and treating children
- Familiarity with the steps needed to set up a dental outreach at a primary school

As a result of the Dental Therapists work in the primary schools, 5,844 primary school students received education and screening in the last year – most of whom also received fluoride varnish, and free toothpaste and toothbrushes.

Additionally, 63 teachers were educated on how to promote best oral health practices and educate future students.
UIC - MUHAS STUDENT AND FACULTY EXCHANGE

Two final year dental students from the University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) participated in community-based rotations at MUHAS School of Dentistry. The exchange, a result of an MCW-facilitated partnership, for the first time included a one-week community-based component at the Tanga Dental Therapy Training School during an MCW Outreach Training Program. The students were able to experience first-hand complex oral surgery cases seldom seen in developed countries, and gain insight into the challenges to community-based care in Tanzania.

WORLD ORAL HEALTH DAY

For the second year, MCW organized three days of activities for World Oral Health Day in March, 2017. In both Mbeya and Tanga, a collaboration between MCW, Colgate-Palmolive, Tanzanian Dental Association and the Dental Therapy Training Schools spread awareness of oral health to thousands. The three days of activities included radio sessions to discuss oral health best practices, marches in the streets to promote awareness, and school-based screenings of 2,730 primary school students.

MCW AT SYMPOSIUM OF MAKERERE - COLUMBIA & THE SOCIETY OF ADOLESCENT HEALTH IN UGANDA

Following submission of an abstract, MCW was selected to make a poster presentation on “Strengthening Practical Training in Community-Based Dentistry for Dental Therapists in Tanzania.” The symposium, organized by Makerere and Columbia Universities focused on “Keeping Our Adolescents Healthy through Preventive Care.”
“MCW sponsored a trip that was probably one of the most impressionable events of my life. Our trip to Tanzania really opened my eyes to global health care and was the first time I thought about oral health care outside of the United States. Since coming back, I have actually been researching ways to be involved in oral health care outside of the US.”

-Naheed Ahmad, Dental Student, University of Illinois at Chicago
